MR. DOUGLAS' OPINION OF PRESIDENT LINCOLN—I can never forget, and have often narrated an incident which took place in New York when Judge Douglas became a candidate for re-election to the Senate, and when he was opposed by the whole force of the Buchanan administration. It was in the Spring of 1858 when I called on the Judge who was then staying with Mrs. Douglas at the St. Nicholas Hotel. He was preparing for the canvass with great zeal, and knew that he had a hard struggle before him. The intelligence had just reached him that his Republican competitor would be Abraham Lincoln. While realizing that this fact only added to his own doubts of the result, he seemed to be flattered that his opponents had put forward their best man. Holding Mr. Lincoln's well known and for a long time much abused, but not the less prophetic, speech in his hand—that speech in which he shocked the slave despots by declaring that this nation must be all free or all slave—with this remarkable production in his hand he proceeded to pay a high tribute to Mr. Lincoln. He said he was the leading man of his party, the most difficult man to meet and match on the stump, and the most skillful and thoughtful of his school. [illegible] ended in making Douglas Senator, it placed in bold relief before the nation the future President of the United States.—J. W. Forney.

THE MOTIVE FOR LINCOLN'S ASSASSINATION.—Bishop Potter, in an address to the clergy and laity of the diocese of New York, on Easter Eve, on the subject of President Lincoln's assassination, said:

"No one will agree that personal hostility had anything to do with it, for it is well known, and, I think, generally admitted, that Mr. Lincoln had not a personal enemy in the world. He was murdered simply because he had done his duty in the great office to which he had been twice chosen by the free voice of his countrymen, because he was inexpressibly dear to the loyal heart of the American people, because he was honored, trusted and loved by the nation he had served so well. This and nothing but this, was the motive which prompted the most [illegible], most appalling crime."

WEDNESDAY MORNING, JUNE 14, 1865.

The Recent Amnesty Proclamation

The offer of amnesty and pardon to rebels, made by President Johnson on the 29th of last month came at the earliest moment when a tender of this kind would be likely to be followed by any useful or satisfactory results. So long as the rebels were able to contend against the Government, it was a work of futility to endeavor to induce them to cease their armed opposition, and accept offers of pardon. But now that they are defeated and powerless a proposition of such a nature as that which the President lately made will be accepted by multitudes, who, but a little while ago treated with the utmost derision, similar offers which were tendered them by President Lincoln. The recent proclamation comes therefore, very opportunely. Moreover, it is more elaborately constructed, and more specific in its details, than anything of the like intent and purport that has preceded it. It seems to have been wrought out with the clearest knowledge of what is necessary to be done in order to procure permanent peace and quiet. It is not unnecessarily severe, nor does it go to the other extreme of granting full pardon without any discrimination against the most guilty. They who occupied the highest stations, and were chiefly instrumental in beginning and conducting the rebellion, are very properly to be excluded from sharing the benefits which the amnesty confers. It is due to the government and to the loyal people who have struggled so tenaciously to maintain it, that such a course shall be taken in the present readjustment, as will secure forever the costly triumph which has been gained. No punishment less severe than perpetual disfranchisement, and complete dispossession of all property, would be any adequate retribution for the crimes of the chiefs of rebels who are excepted from pardon by the terms of the new proclamation. Nothing less than an entire withdrawal from the leading rebels, of all power to do the country any further harm, can afford the people an assurance of future tranquillity. Reduced to beggary, and deprived of the right to hold office, and even of the power to vote at elections, their presence in the country can not be productive of continual apprehension and danger, as would be the case, should they be fully restored to the privileges they have forfeited.

We do not applaud this proclamation solely because the punishment it provides is a just recompense for the grave and manifold crimes which the most conspicuous of the rebels have committed. It is but natural and proper, however, that loyal people should be indignant and resentful towards the iniquitous authors of the country's wrongs. But we commend the proclamation, because we see in the new state of things which is to grow out of the conditions it prescribes ample assurances of security hereafter. We do not think that the motives which induced President Johnson to make exceptions in his proclamation against the most turbulent and guilty, are to be found hid under the cloak of mere revenge. Recognizing the necessity of providing for the safety of the future by the exercise of present vigilance and wisdom, he is taking such a course as will best subserve the ultimate interests of the nation.

Through the operation of the laws of the country, State and National, the old system of Southern society will break up and entirely disappear. The result will be a complete homogeneity in all material respects, of the interests and habitudes of the people. The amnesty proclamation deprives of pardon all disloyalists of wealth and power. The most violent and ungovernable of the advocates of slavery can never hereafter take the lead in forming a public sentiment against freedom, and inimical to the Government. If it be thought that the classes excluded by the President from the advantages of pardon are too numerous, or if the conditions of the proclamation be deemed in some respects too severe, let those who hold these opinions, attentively consider the case and render a reason why there should be any modification. The construction of the proclamation was not the work of a day. It was not issued hastily and rashly, but was framed with the most careful consideration. For a month prior to its appearance the President was known to have been employed upon it. It is no doubt the joint work of himself and of those who are deemed worthy to hold consultation with him. It satisfies the loyal sentiment of the country, and assures the truly patriotic that they have not trusted Andrew Johnson in vain.

ACKNOWLEDGING THEMSELVES TRAITORS.—A meeting of leading "Democrats" was held at New York on the 29th of April last, in commemoration of the birth-day of Thomas Jefferson. Theodore Martine, the person who presided, said: "A majority of the Democrats of the North proved false to their principles, and false to their brethren; whom they had advised and encouraged into extreme action. Never before in the history of political parties was such treachery known."

Here, by their own confession the Democratic party is responsible for the rebellion. That portion of the party which stood by their country and refused to aid the rebels, is abused roundly by these pretended followers of Jefferson for their alleged falseness and treachery. This is a clear acknowledgment by these disciples of modern Democracy, that they have, from the beginning, been the friends of the rebels and anxious for their success. They who have committed overt acts of treason, are not the only persons who deserve punishment. Those pseudonymous Democrats of the North are equally as guilty as they whose rebellion they justify. They deem perfidiousness and treason the highest attainment of virtue. Not a word do they utter against perdition. No reproaches have they for traitors. So far are they from being actuated by a truly loyal purpose, that they upbraid themselves for having been false to their brethren whom they encouraged in rebellion, instead of having afforded them that assistance which they confess they promised them.

A BOOK BY JOHN M. BOTTS.—During the rebellion John Minor Botts of Virginia, is said to have been preparing a book which will shortly be issued. The title of it is to be, "A History of the Secession Movement and its Public and Secret Advocates, North and South, since the days of Calhoun."

Late advices from Cariboo report the gold product to be greatly increasing. Rich strikes are frequently made. On the 1st one Company took out 497 ounces. The same day 125 ounces was taken out by another Company. On the 31st of last month the bank took in 1,700 ounces in ten days.

In Nicaragua two hundred and forty acres of land are to be given to each white settler.

THE OVERLAND EXCURSION.—Mr. Colfax, the distinguished Speaker of the last House of Representatives, is now on the plains en route for this coast. On the night before the assassination he visited President Lincoln. On taking leave of the President, the latter is reported to have said:

"I am glad you are going thither. Visit all the mining regions. Tell the miners I have not forgotten them nor their interests, tell them I look to them to redeem this nation from its great debt; tell them the Government will do all it can to hasten the development of the vast wealth hid in their mountain sides and along their valleys. I shall encourage the soldiers to go there. I shall direct emigration thither. There is wealth there for individuals and the nation. Go," he concluded, "and do not forget to tell the miners we have them in mind, and are at work for them."

It is thought that the emigration across the plains this year will be very large. Great numbers who have been left unemployed by the termination of hostilities are known to be on the way. Many desperadoes from the defeated rebel armies, will, no doubt, come to the Pacific side, but they will be attended by a sufficient number of true men to keep them in subjection.

U. S. 7-30 LOAN!

BY AUTHORITY OF THE SECRETARY OF THE Treasury, the undersigned has assumed the General Subscription Agency for the sale of United States Treasury Notes, bearing seven and three-tenths per cent. interest, per annum, known as the SEVEN-THIRTY LOAN.

These Notes are issued under date June 15th, 1865, and are payable three years from that time, in currency, or are convertible at the option of the holder, into

U. S. 5-20 Six per cent.
Gold Bearing Bonds.

These bonds are now worth a premium of nine per cent. including gold interest from November, which makes the actual profit on the 7-30 loan, at current rates, including interest, about ten per cent. per annum, besides its exemption from State and Municipal taxation, which adds from one to three per cent. more, according to the rate levied on other property. The interest is payable in currency semi-annually, by coupons attached to each note, which may be cut off and sold to any bank or banker.

The interest amounts to

One cent per day on a $50 note
Two cents	$100
Ten	$500
20	$1000
$1	$5000

Notes of all denominations named will be promptly furnished upon receipt of subscriptions. This is now offered by the Government, and it is confidently expected that its superior advantages will make it the

THE ONLY LOAN IN MARKET

GREAT POPULAR LOAN
Of the People!

Less than $300,000,000 of the loan authorized by the last Congress, are now on the market. This amount, at the rate at which it is being absorbed, will all be subscribed for within four months, when the notes will undoubtedly command a premium, as has uniformly been the case on closing the subscriptions to other Loans.

In order that citizens of every town and section of the country may be afforded facilities for taking the loan, the National Banks, State Banks and Private Bankers throughout the country have generally agreed to receive subscriptions at par. Subscribers will select their own agents in whom they have confidence and who only are to be responsible for the delivery of the notes for which they receive orders.

SHERMAN AND HALLECK.—The following is the substance of a correspondence which passed lately between Generals Sherman and Halleck. The cause of the alienation between them will be remembered. The misunderstanding grew out of officious[illegible] on the part of Halleck as Sherman supposed, when the former countermanded some of the latter's orders.

GEN. HALLECK TO GEN. SHERMAN.

As you will be in Richmond in a few days allow me to offer you the hospitalities of my home here, where I shall be gratified to receive you and contribute to make your journey here agreeable.

GEN. SHERMAN TO GEN. HALLECK.

Your proffered hospitality is respectfully declined. I had hoped to pass through Richmond without the painful necessity of meeting you. Your recent advisory dispatch to the War Department is a sufficient explanation.

GEN. HALLECK TO GEN. SHERMAN.

I regret your declining my invitation and the unfriendly spirit manifested in your note. If you knew the feeling in Washington at the War Department in reference to your agreement with Johnson you would appreciate the motive of my dispatch to which you refer. Permit me to assure you of my kind feeling toward you personally and my high appreciation of your services.

GEN. SHERMAN TO GEN. HALLECK.

I think I understand both the circumstances and the men sufficiently well to appreciate the motive of your dispatch. Both you and Stanton sent me warning to beware of assassins. I did not then know that the authors of the warning were themselves the assassins I had to fear.

CROCODILE TEARS.—One of the Copperhead papers which bewails the death of the President and indulges in the "best friend" mummery, is the Chicago Times which said in its issue of July 1st 1864:

"He (President Lincoln) could not be more worthless dead than he is living, but would be infinitely less mischievous, and his corpse repulsive as it would be in its freshest state and richest and most graceful habiliments would yet be the most appropriate sacrifice which the insulted nation could offer in atonement for its submission to his imbecility and despotism."

Now the black hearted ghoul is professing to weep over the grave of the most glorified martyr, save one that ever died to make men free.—Bee.

A portion of the people of Kentucky are reluctant to give up slavery. The Louisville Journal assures them that emancipation is only a question of time and urges them to adopt it and make the best of it.

It is said that a life of Marie Antoinette, by the Empress Eugenie, will shortly make its appearance.

THE NAME "SOZODONT," which is fast becoming a household word, is derived from the Greek and composed of two words, Sozo and Odontes. "Sozo," translated, means to preserve, and odontes, the teeth. "Sozodont," a preserver of the teeth. And it is true to its name. For beautifying and preserving the teeth, hardening and invigorating the gums, and correcting all impurities of the breath, it is without a peer in the world. Sold by Druggists and Fancy Goods Dealers everywhere. 75 cents per bottle.

THE FLORENCE
Sewing Machines

ARE NOW UNIVERSALLY ACKNOWLEDGED TO BE BY FAR

THE MOST SIMPLY CONSTRUCTED
Easily Managed,
HANDSOMELY FURNISHED
and Durable
FAMILY SEWING MACHINE,
NOW IN USE.

Possessing the Most Desirable Points of all other First-Class Machines, it Surpasses them by the Simplicity of its Construction, and the Ease and Facility with which it Performs a Greater Variety of Work than all other Machines Combined.

IT HEMS, FELLS, GATHERS, BRAIDS, QUILTS and Binds, and Sews on a Ruffle at the same time. We claim for the Florence the following advantages over all Sewing Machines:

☞ It uses four different stitches, the Lock, Knot, Double Lock and Double Knot [illegible] and the same Machine [illegible] being alike on both sides of the fabric.

☞ It has the reversible feed motion, which enables the operator by simply turning a thumb screw to have the work run either to the right or left, to stay any seam or fasten the ends of seams without turning the fabric.

☞ Changing the length of stitch, and from one kind of stitch to another, can readily be done while the Machine is in motion.

☞ Every stitch is perfect in itself, making the seam secure and uniform.

☞ It is almost noiseless and can be used where quiet is a necessity.

☞ Its motions are all positive; there are no springs to get out of order, and its simplicity enables the most inexperienced to operate it.

☞ It will not oil the dress of the operator, as all its machinery is on top of the table.

☞ It is the most rapid sewer in the world, making five stitches to each revolution.

☞ Its stitch is the admiration of all. Its use of its own tension, strength and beauty.

☞ It does the heaviest or finest work with equal facility, without change of tension or breaking thread.

☞ Every Machine has one of Barnum's patent hemmers attached (the right to use which we control) enabling the operator to turn any width of hem desired.

☞ There is no other Machine which will do so large a range of work as the Florence.

☞ It can be used with finer thread on the under side than on the upper.

☞ The needle is more easily adjusted than in any other Machine.

☞ It will sew across the heaviest seams, or from one stitch to the other without change of tension or breaking of thread.

☞ It is fully protected and licensed by Elisha Howe, Jr., and his Associates and our own Letters Patent.

☞ To avoid the strain on the eyes, bent posture, close application and fatiguing care, heretofore necessary on a large portion of work done on Sewing Machines, we now furnish each Machine with a "Self Sewer," which guides the work itself and is of invaluable value especially to inexperienced operators.

☞ While possessing the above and many other advantages, the FLORENCE is sold at corresponding prices with other first class Machines.

☞ We refrain from publishing the highly complimentary notices of the Press with which we have been favored and place our Machine before the public, believing that an intelligent examination of its merits will fully substantiate all that we have claimed for it, and justify the assertion that we now make that it is the best Sewing Machine in the world.

☞ We Warrant every Machine to do all that we claim for it and will give a written warranty if required.

☞ Agents wanted in all the principal cities and towns on the Pacific Coast. With a small investment of capital a profitable business can soon be established.

Gilbert St Clair

Gilbert St Clair was a poor man, residing in the village of A—— on the northern bank of the Ohio river. His occupation at the time we write of was that of college janitor. A fine institution had been erected there and was in a flourishing condition. The learned faculty of this college were extensively known and highly revered. The president was a remarkably pious man, so exemplary was he in his walk and conversation that he was regarded as a shining light in society. At this College most of the States in the Union were represented. The fiery Southerner, the cool calculating Yankee, and the plain unpretending youths of the Western and Middle States met there in one common interest. If perchance one of these young students was smitten by disease, although far from home he found in the village matron and maid a mother and sister; or if death claimed one as his victim his dying pillow was smoothed by a kind motherly hand. An institution so well patronized and conducted soon became an object of general interest to the youth of the country. The annual commencement especially was look forward to as a time of highest interest. Gentlemen and ladies from a distance—mostly Southern—visited the village at this time to witness the graduating exercises of a son or brother and accompany the young graduate home.

At the close of a spring session a class of students fifteen in number having toiled through years of study and acquitted themselves well in their last examination and looked forward with bounding hearts to the commencement at which they were to receive their well earned diplomas. Several days however prior to this important period, Professor B—— who was intrusted with the finances of a number of the young men, was detained in his recitation room till a late hour, preparing the election class. He had given out small sums of money to the students with which to make their purchases, and as the class hastily adjourned the professor retired, leaving his well filled pocket-book upon his table. He did not discover his mistake till the next morning. He hastened to the recitation room, but was unable to find a trace of his lost treasure. He hurried through the empty halls and apartments till in an upper room he found the janitor at work humming his morning hymn. On being questioned with regard to the lost pocket book, he looked up with an air of surprised innocence, declaring he knew nothing of it. At this failure the professor became exceedingly alarmed. One hope, however still remained—some of the graduating class had found it and would return it at recitation. But the morning passed wearily away, and no light was thrown on the mystery. As the graduating class was finally dismissed from his room, he requested his friend and favorite pupil, young Winfield, to remain. When the door was closed, and quiet again reigned throughout the room, he informed him of his great great loss. The student was seemingly much troubled at the professor's misfortune, and promised to do all in his power to discover who had taken the money. After thinking a few moments, he remarked

"I know of no one on whom suspicion could rest but the janitor, for he entered the room last night as we were leaving. This is not, I am sorry to say, the only theft that has been committed this term. Gilbert, you know, is very poor, and such a well-filled purse as yours seemed to be, was indeed a great temptation."

"I should not wonder," said the professor thoughtfully, "and I wish you would assist me in its recovery."

Writing a hasty note, he sent it by Winfield to the janitor, demanding him to appear before the Faculty at a given time. A meeting of the Faculty was called, and Gilbert made his appearance in due time. But what was his astonishment when he found himself accused of theft. A secret session was immediately held, and Gilbert was demanded to produce the pocket book. Persuasions and entreaties were first employed but these having no effect, the most appalling threats were resorted to. But, as he would neither confess nor restore the money, he was permitted for the present to retire, there being no time to lose, as the exhibition was just at hand, and the village filled with strangers. Unfortunately for the janitor, it was whispered all through the college that he had stolen Professor B——'s pocket-book, and a number of other things from the students. A mob made up of the most reckless of the collegians, held themselves in readiness to punish Gilbert for the alleged crime. That night between the hours of nine and ten, as he returned home from his work, he was seized by the mob, blindfolded and dragged to the brink of the river.

"We will soon make him confess his guilt" they said, plunging the terror stricken man into the water. Gilbert shrieked aloud, and the mob fearing detection, stopped his mouth with a handkerchief. The victim was roughly handled by his juvenile persecutors, till Winfield, who was foremost in trying to extort confession, exclaimed "We will drown him! but we will first give him a few moments to say his prayers." He was now placed on his knees, where he was permitted to remain a few moments. Then he was seized and plunged into the water, where he was held till almost suffocated. Raising him up, the handkerchief was removed from his mouth, and he was again required to confess. He made no reply; again he was again plunged into the water, and would have been drowned but for the interference of some of the mob. They were obliged to give up in despair, their victim holding out against them, despite their menaces and harsh treatment. They carried him to shore in a state of insensibility, the bandage was removed from his eyes, and on recovering he looked around and saw that all his persecutors had gone. The night was very dark, and the janitor was so badly bruised, and so much chilled from wet clothing that it was with much difficulty he groped his way home. It was a dark night, and to Gilbert, a long dark night. It is true, day came and went, but no light dawned on him, who was branded as a thief.

The morning of the exhibition came, and the sun shone forth as brightly as if there was no sin in the world. The college bell pealed out a merry chime, and then a band of musicians, followed by the graduating class, and a long procession of students, marched up the street. The exhibitions were always held in the village church, and thither the procession took its way, where a crowded house awaited them. The morning's entertainment was made up of music and declamation, and rapturous [illegible] the eloquence of the [illegible] was [illegible] applauded. At the close of this exercise, the [illegible] rose to receive their diplomas, and never did a more promising class grace a commencement. Let us not sully one line of this [illegible]. Some are in affluent, all in easy circumstances; surely no one of these honorable young men would take a poor professor's pocket book.

Three days after, a light steamer, richly freighted and bound for Pittsburg, was seen winding its way up the Ohio in the vicinity of Blennerhassett's Island. An attractive youth, who had often been seen with folded arms and melancholy mien walking the deck, now approached the forecastle and paused in full view of the island.

The river was placid; the sun tinged the land scape with a ruddy brightness, as he slowly declined behind the receding hills, with the promise of a glorious morrow. The scene was calculated to fill the heart with thrilling emotions.

The historical associations of this island, the treasonable conspiracy of Aaron Burr, his dreamy project of establishing an empire west of the Allegheny mountains, the detection of his plan, the enduring infamy that must attach itself to his name, identified as it is with all that is disloyal and corrupt in the history of American traitors—these, all, perchance, passed hurriedly through his mind as he stood pensively gazing on the beautiful landscape, when suddenly the collapsing of a flue caused a current of steam to burst through the forecastle where the youth stood, and instantly his body was severed in twain. No one besides this unfortunate youth was injured even the boat was but slightly damaged. That night while the steamer was being repaired, a little way out from the river in a lovely spot of the island beneath a hemlock, a grave was hastily prepared, and on the following morning the mangled form of the unfortunate youth was consigned to its last resting place. No one on board knew anything about the stranger and when they left him there was not even a mourner to take leave of his solitary grave.

The first Sabbath after the opening of the autumnal session another meeting was held in the village church, in which the Faculty and collegiates were deeply interested.

The sad news of Winfield's death had filled the village with mourning. Professor B——being the most suitable person from his intimate acquaintance with the deceased, was appointed to preach his funeral. The sermon was indeed pathetic. That one, he said so young, so full of life and hope with every promise of a useful and happy life before him should be called away so suddenly and in such an appalling manner, was too dark a problem for human wisdom to solve. He spoke of his career at college, his virtues, his elevated social position and of the friendships he had made in their midst, now rudely broken by the relentless hand of death. The audience was deeply affected, and many a tear was shed in sorrow for the departed.

One evening several months later Professor B—— sat in his study with his face buried in his hands, apparently in deep thought. Winter was just at hand and he was studying out the most economical plan of living for the future. In consequence of his loss, he had deprived himself of many comforts, and was sadly conning over the articles that he might probably do without. Then Winfield with all his virtues and accomplishments came up amid his reflections. The earnest effort he manifested in trying to recover his loss and the Professor was just brushing away a tear when he was startled by a loud rap at the door. On turning the bolt he found a rough boatman with a large traveling trunk, and an accompanying note. It was Winfield's trunk, he knew it at the first glance. Not being recognized by the ordinary mode of pointing out the place of destination it had been carried up and down the river for some time before any special attention was paid to it. At length it was forced open by the proper authorities with a view to ascertain, if possible, to whom it belonged. Among documents which it contained it was found to be the property of a student of A—— College, and that Rev. Mr B——, was his patron. The trunk was immediately sent to the Professor, who, on opening it, was struck with amazement at the sight of his long lost pocket book, returned by a train of events so truly wonderful.

Gilbert having been dismissed from further service in the college, found employment in a flour mill at a remote distance from the village, where he labored faithfully for a livelihood. Here he united with the membership of a country church and led a very pious though humble life till unfortunately a theft was committed in the mill. The story of the lost pocket book having reached the neighborhood, he of course was accused. Before his arrest, however one of the Professors of A—— College delivered a temperance lecture in the church. Gilbert who had been partially deaf ever since his ill treatment by the mob took a seat near the speaker. The audience was unusually large. Gilbert sat with his head bowed down by grief during the whole of the lecture at the close of which the Professor remarked "I have a few words to say in behalf of an injured man. I see Gilbert St Clair in my audience; will he please come forward?"

Gilbert arose with wonder depicted in every feature of his face. All eyes were fixed on him as he approached. The Professor took him kindly by the hand and said with a firm, distinct utterance "Gilbert St Clair, Providence has ordered that I should vindicate your honesty." Then turning to the audience said, "since I came here I learn that the stigma of theft committed at the A—— College has followed St. Clair even to this remote place. I am happy it is in my power to declare him before you an honest man." He then proceeded to tell the story of the lost pocket book and its singular recovery. A strange thrill pervaded the entire audience when they heard that the same person who originated the charge had himself committed the crime. When he had finished, Gilbert, while tears of joy rolled down his care worn cheeks exclaimed, "my prayer has been answered." He then told how he had prayed that dark night by the river shrink that the guilty one might be detected and he cleared from that unjust accusation. Gilbert lived a long and happy life and all the infidels in the universe could not have convinced him that there was not an over ruling Providence, and a God who heard and answered prayer.—New York Ledger

ITS ACTION IS EXPECTORANT, ALTERATIVE, SUDORIFIC, SEDATIVE, DIAPHORETIC AND DIURETIC, which renders it one of the most valuable remedies known for curing diseases of the lungs. It excites expectoration, and causes the lungs to throw off the phlegm or mucus; CHANGES THE SECRETIONS AND PURIFIES THE BLOOD; heals the irritated parts; gives strength to the digestive organs; brings the liver to its proper action, and imparts strength to the whole system. Such is the immediate and satisfactory effect, that it is WARRANTED TO BREAK UP THE MOST DISTRESSING COUGH IN A FEW HOURS' TIME, if not of too long standing. IT IS WARRANTED to give entire satisfaction even in the MOST CONFIRMED CASES OF CONSUMPTION. IT IS WARRANTED NOT to produce costiveness (which is the case with most remedies) or affect the head, as it contains no Opium in any form. IT IS WARRANTED TO BE PERFECTLY HARMLESS to the most delicate child, although it is an active and powerful remedy for restoring the system. LILLIE'S LOCK OPENED

In One Minute.

NEW YORK, September 2, 1864.

F TILLMAN, Esq., 218 Battery street,
Between Commercial and Clay, San Francisco

DEAR SIR; WE NOTICE AN ADvertisement in your daily papers respecting the "security" of the "Lillie" lock. We are aware that you well understand this lock, and, of course, will not allow yourself to be annoyed by such representations. We have just sent for one of our men at the factory and he in our presence opened one of Lillie's best safe locks, after it had been locked and the combination turned on,

By One Blow of the Hammer

Against the knob on the outside, and thereby breaking the cast iron knob inside.

The whole time occupied in opening the lock was about ONE MINUTE. We send you this lock that your friends may not be deceived by false representations, etc.,

Respectfully etc

A E TILTON,
WM McFARLAND

NO PRACTICAL

Lock Picker or Thimble Rigger

Required to OPERATE THE SAID LILLIE LOCK.

Any parties desirous of seeing the above mentioned lock, its insecurity and easy mode of opening the same, can call at 218 Battery Street, San Francisco.

GLOUCESTER, March 20, 1864.

Messrs TILTON & McFARLAND,
Safe Manufacturers, Boston Mass

Gentlemen:—From representations made by Mr Lillie I was induced to purchase of him one of his

So Called "Fire Proof Safes."

On the 18th of February last, a fire occurred in our block which destroyed a number of buildings, and our own with the rest. We trusted our books, papers, etc., all in the safe. After the fire the so called "safe" was taken from the ruins, and on opening it we found that Everything had been Destroyed.

We send you the safe with what is left of the papers and you will see that not one of them is legible or strong enough to sustain its own weight. Having the curiosity to know how our neighbors fared in this fire, we noticed McKenzie & Hardy just opening their safe (TILTON & McFARLAND'S make) and its contents were found to be

In Perfect Condition

This led us to further investigation, and we found to our astonishment that from the large amount of combustible material in Messrs McK & H.'s cellar—such as lard, pork, etc., their safe was subjected to a much greater heat than that of our own, we being in the clothing business and had but little in the cellar. There was another of Lillie's safes here subjected to the same fire faring, however, no better than ours.

Very respectfully,
Your obedient servants,

(Signed) — GEO. L. CHESBORO & CO

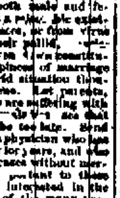
TO THE UNFORTUNATE.

NEW REMEDIES, NEW REMEDIES!

Dr. Gibbon's Dispensary,



617 KEARNEY STREET, NEAR COMMERCIAL, San Francisco. Established in 1854, for the treatment of Sexual and Seminal Diseases, such as Gonorrhea, Gleet, Stricture, Syphilis in all its forms, Seminal Weakness, Impotency, etc. Skin Diseases (of years standing) and Ulcerated Legs successfully treated.

DR GIBBON has the pleasure of announcing that he has returned to this State, after an absence of one year, during which time he has visited all the principal hospitals of Europe, among these those of Dublin, London and Paris. The following celebrated hospitals of London are among those visited by the Doctor:—Guy's, High street, Borough; St. Bartholomew's, Smithfield; St. Mary's, Camb. Place, Pad; Lock, Harrow road; St. Luke's, Old street; University, Gower street; Westminster, Broad Sanctuary, Charring Cross, Agar street; Middlesex, London, Whitechapel road; Royal Free, Gray's Inn road; King's College, Portugal street.

DOCTOR GIBBON has also visited Dr Acton of London, Parker of Birmingham, England, and Ricord of Paris, who are considered the best physicians and surgeons in the world, and whose authority is acknowledged to be the highest in the treatment of Sexual Diseases.

DOCTOR GIBBON has obtained from them their new mode of treatment which cannot be surpassed.

DOCTOR GIBBON has spared neither time nor money in seeking out new remedies, and has returned with new facilities for the alleviation of human suffering.

Horrible Diseases.

How many thousands of persons, both male and female, are there who are wearing out a miserable existence from the effects of secret indulgence, or from virus absorbed into the system! Look at their pallid, emaciated and disfigured faces and their broken down constitutions, disqualifying them for the happiness of marriage or the enjoyment of life. In this horrid situation they linger on until death closes the scene. Let parents, guardians, friends, attend to those who are suffering with any of these horrible diseases; see that they are cured for and cured before it be too late. Send them immediately to Doctor Gibbon, a physician who has made private disease his special study for years, and who is certain to cure the most inveterate cases without mercury or any injurious drugs. It is important to those who are afflicted, or to those who are interested in the welfare of their friends, to be careful of the many pretended doctors who infest all cities, publishing their skill in curing all diseases in a few days, imposing upon the public by using the names of eminent physicians from Europe and other places. Be that as careful and make strict inquiry, or you may fall into the hands of these charlatans.

Seminal Weakness.

Seminal Emissions, the consequence of self-abuse. This solitary vice, or depraved sexual indulgence, is practised by the youth of both sexes to an almost unlimited extent, producing, with unerring certainty, the following train of morbid symptoms, unless combatted by scientific medical measures, viz: Sallow countenance, dark spots under the eyes, pain in the head, ringing in the ears, noise like the rustling of leaves and rattling of chariots, uneasiness about the loins, weakness of the limbs, confused vision, blunted intellect, loss of confidence, diffidence in approaching strangers, a dislike to form new acquaintances, a disposition to shun society, loss of memory, hectic flushes, pimples and various eruptions about the face, furred tongue, fetid breath, coughs, consumption, night sweats, monomania and frequent insanity. If relief be not obtained, should apply immediately, either in person or by letter, and have a cure effected by his new and scientific mode of treating this disease, which never fails of effecting a quick and radical cure. Dr. G. will give One Hundred Dollars to any person who will prove satisfactorily to him that he was cured of this complaint by other of the San Francisco quacks.

DOCTOR GIBBON is ready to [illegible], and will give to each patient a written instrument, binding himself to effect a radical and permanent cure, or make no charge.

Persons at a distance may be CURED AT HOME, by addressing a letter to Doctor Gibbon, stating case, symptoms, length of time the disease has continued, and have medicines promptly forwarded, free from damage and curiosity, to any part of the country, with full and plain directions for use. For Ten Dollars sent in registered letter or through Wells, Fargo & Co

Address DR. J. F. GIBBON, 617 Kearney street, near Commercial, San Francisco. Post Office Box 252.

Prevention Better than Cure.

The newly invented Patent French Safe, a sure Preventive against Disease and Pregnancy sent by mail. Price $2. Address DR. J. F. GIBBON, 617 Kearney St, near Commercial, San Francisco. Post office Box 252

Caution to the Unfortunate.

Beware of the San Francisco quacks and pretenders who with bogus sworn to certificates, dupe the unwary. Some of the self styled doctors whose names are to be found in the daily and weekly newspapers of San Francisco, are tradesmen, and became too lazy to work at their trades. Some are tinsmiths, shoemakers, newspaper carriers, intelligence office keepers, etc. Look over the San Francisco Directory and you will not find the Medical Institutes in it, but you will find their former occupations in it. Look at the Directory for 1862 and 1863. The only way to avoid imposition is to make inquiry. It will cost you nothing and may save you many regrets; for as advertising physicians in eight cases out of ten are bogus, there is no safety in trusting any of them until you know who and what they are. Doctor Gibbon does not deceive people by exhibiting bogus titles, certificates, pretended patients' letters, etc. Doctor Gibbon will satisfy persons who may call at his office of his ability to treat disease that he proposes to cure.
